NEWS BY THE MAILS.

The Relations of the United States with Mexico.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes:

The correspondence of our Government with France, in regard to Mexican affairs, will be sent in to Congress as soon as that body resumes its session. Unless I am misinformed, it will not answer the anticipations which have led to the offering of some of the resolutions that have passed in Congress, inasmuch as it will show that our Government has at no time had any purpose or thought of abandoning the Monroe doctrine. On the contrary, it has pursued the course which seemed most likely to secure the practical establishment of that policy, and at the same time save the country the expense of another war. The whole matter will now be handed over to Congress for its action, and if that body sees fit to insist upon a more hasty solution of the problem, even at the cost of war, no obstacle will be placed in its way. The whole responsibility will be placed on its shoulders.

SEMMES TO GO TO THE OLD CAPITOL.

The War Department issued an order this morning to the Provost Marshal to turn over to the Navy Department, temporarily, the Old Capitol prison for the confinement of Raphael Semmes, of the Alabama.

The court that is intended for the trial of Semmes has not yet been fully appointed. It will meet for the commencement of the trial on the 11th of January, 1866, and will sit in one of the rooms of the Navy Department. Although the Old Capitol prison has been turned over to the Navy Department for the reception of Semmes, no order has been given by that Department for placing him there.

IMMENSE FRAUDS.

Assistant Secretary Chandler, of the National Treasury Department, has not gone home, as reported, but goes South to-day, along with Henry Waterson, Esq., of Tennessee, for the purpose of unmasking the Government Treasury officials now in the South, who have been plundering the Federal Government of cotton and other goods, amounting to over one hundred millions of dollars. Butler's spoons sink into insignificance beside the great frauds that will shortly be developed.—Union,

SOUTHERN CONGRESSMEN.

The idea is held out from a quarter always hopeful and sanguine (says the correspondent of the Baltimore Sun) that the Southern members of Congress elect will be admitted to their seats after the holidays. It will be some time after; still most of the States may be represented before the close of the session, provided the members can subscribe to the test oath. There is no probability that this will be repealed or even modified, as regards members of Congress, or even attorneys, at this session. It seems to be the purpose of the majority to require that the representation of the States lately in rebellion shall be chosen from among those citizens who were not, in any way, identified with the rebellion.

CASE OF JEFF DAVIS.

Chief Justice Chase, in conversation on Thursday, remarked that whenever he found the case of the United States against Jeff Davis on the docket, he should proceed to try it, but that under no circumstances will he try it in Virginia while the State is occupied by the military.—New-York Tribune.

GEN. SCHOFIED NOT REPRESENTING THE GOVERNMENT.

General Schofield is abroad on a leave of absence, and is not known here to be in any way a representative of the Executive department of this government; hence his presence in Paris is not entitled to the political significance attributed to it by writers at that capital.

A DECISION OVERRULED.

In the case of Walker and McCoy, colored men, in this place, the latter was sentenced by the County Court to be sold into servitude for five years, for larceny. Major General Cook, commanding this district, overruled the sentence on the ground that no laws can be enforced which make a distinction between blacks and whites. The statue provides merely for selling free negroes into servitude. It may therefore not be enforced.—Wil. Journal.

The Hon. J. L. M. Curry has accepted the Presidency of Howard College, Alabama, and will take steps immediately to put it in a condition for the reception of pupils.

General Sheridan and staff called on General Scott while he was in New Orleans. If discussing the late war, General Scott spoke in high terms of Generals Lee, Johnston and Longstreet.

THE BROOKLYN SHOOTING CASE.—The Miss Dayton, who was shot by her lover last week, in Brooklyn, N. Y., has four bullet wounds in her head, yet the physicians say she is getting along as favorably as can be expected. Miss Dayton was a trance speaking medium and was distinguished for her extraordinary power.

Gen. D. H. Hill, late of the Confederate army, is a delegate to the Presbyterian General Assembly, now sitting at Macon, Georgia.

Gov. Worth's Address.

There are very urgent reasons, why every loyal man to the government, should at least avoid captious complaint or invidious criticism upon the new installed Civil Governor of the State. Legitimate criticism he does not expect to avoid, does he fear it.—Errors of administration in the course of any public civil officer, are proper subjects of animadversion, but for a officer to be held up to public censure, for the constructions put upon what he says, by prejudged fault-finders, is a little more than an honest public will sanction.

We had hoped that Gov. Worth would have been permitted to get warm in his seat, before the shafts of prejudice and envy, would be hurled at him; but in this we are disappointed. And yet nothing better must have been expected from this quarter, for good men and as wise men as he, have had the same to suffer and to endure. His shield, however broad enough to protect him.

Gov. Worth is eminently a law abiding man. By the confidence of the people of North Carolina he was chosen in November last, to the office of Civil Governor. By the good pleasure of President Johnson, in whose wisdom and magnanimity he has entire confidence, the Provisional Government was relieved, give place to the Civil Governor, into whose hands the "papers and property" of the State were placed on Thursday last by Gov. Holden, compliance with the order of the President.

The language of Mr. Seward's dispatch to Gov. Holden, relieving him as Provisional Governor, is as follows:

"The time has arrived when, in the judgment of the President of the United States the care and conduct of the proper affairs of the State of North Carolina, may be remitted to the constitutional authorities chosen by the people thereof, without danger to the peace and safety of the United States."

This language, together with the fact that Gov. Worth succeeded to office, not by the appointment of the President, but as a consequence of the relieving of the Provisional Governor in order to the accession of the constitutional authorities of the State, must impress every one with the idea, that at that moment when the relief took place, the Provisional Government of North Carolina was at an end, and the Civil government was reinstated, and by consequence all the Provisional offices in the State were vacated, except such as the State Convention had continued. The continuance of the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus the presence of the military and the Freedmen's Bureau, cannot with propriety be urged as evidence of the continuance of the Provisional government, for the reason that these have existed in Maryland and Missouri, where the civil governments have never been interrupted.—They are evidence of the existence of martial law and military government, and hence limit the powers of the civil authority, but they are in no sense provisional.

The fact that the Provisional offices were vacated by the termination of the Provisional government, Gov. Worth was obliged to accept as a legal fact. It was neither the fault of the President nor of Gov. Worth, that the Convention and Legislature had failed fully to put the civil powers of the State in a condition to exercise at once their functions, upon the termination of the Provisional government. The Convention ought to have provided for this, by continuing in office the Justices of the Peace under the Provisional government, until those appointed by the Legislature could qualify. But this not having been done, the Governor has pursued the wise course, by relying upon the people for good order and decorum for a few days, until the Legislature can apply the remedy.

But Gov. Worth is told he ought to apply to the President to re-appoint the Provisional magistrates until the Legislature could supply their places. There is neither propriety nor necessity for this. It is doubtful whether the President would comply with such a request, unless he designed to restore the Provisional government. Gov. Worth appreciates the President's kind and considerate proposition, to render him all necessary aid in promoting the peace and restoration of the State, but until the peace of the State is jeoparded, he could not expect to avail himself of the aid of the government. When that occurs, he will not be backward in making his appeal.

When Gov. Worth suggests, that in the event, that in the interim those who were Provisional magistrates should find it neccessary to exercise the powers of Justices of the Peace, the Legislature would probably validate their acts, he exhibits his usual caution and strict regard to truth. He does not doubt that the Legislature would ratify all neccessary and proper acts, yet as their ratification would depend upon the future action of the Legislature and not his own, he prudently uses the word probable.

But there are other parts of the address out of which fault-finders expect to make more capital, and they are in hot haste to use it.—The following is specially offensive:

"We did not go voluntarily into the late calamitous rebellion. The action of coterminous States forced us to take sides in the strife. We elected to go with our section, and having taken our position, WE ACTED WITH GOOD FAITH TO OUR ASSOCIATES, and bore ourselves gallantly in the fight."

The first two sentences of the paragraph are pronounced all right, but the last sentence contains poison, if not direct treason! Gov. Worth here evidently personifies the State and speaks for her. "We elected to go with our section," is not that true? Yes. "And having taken our position, we acted with good faith to our associates, and bore ourselves gallantly in the fight." Is it not true also? Is there a living man who doubts it? And yet great stress is laid upon the expression, "WE ACTED WITH GOOD FAITH TO OUR ASSOCIATES," as if it were either untrue or disreputable. Of course the Governor alludes to the State as a whole. He could not truthfully have said as much of some of her people.

This expression of Gov. Worth is made the text of a half column of gasconade and bluster, in which the quiet, peace-loving Jonathan Worth is made to represent the champion of war, blood and carnage—as the promoter and advocate of the ravages and ruin caused by the war.

The expression is both true and proper, and easily defended. The State in her highest authority did elect to take sides with her section. Jonathan Worth took no part in that transaction. but others did. They, in behalf of her whole people, swore fidelity to their "associates" and to the Southern cause. Jonathan Worth then thought and still thinks it was a blunder, and took no part in it. But the State having taken her position and sworn to it, he, with genuine Quaker fidelity to truth and honor, magnifies the fidelity of the State in fulfilling her sworn duty. Is not every North Carolinian proud that the State did not meanly and dastardly forsake her sisters in their hour of extremity, that she had sworn to stand by? Does not every craven hearted North Carolinian blush when he thinks of it, that he wanted to see his State prove false to her section and her Southern sisters? Gov. Worth never advocated war and bloodshed and ruin. He would have prevented all these, by never once sanctioning disunion, but when his State did and would go forward, urged by the pressure of her condition, and with her eyes open plunge into the suicidal strife, he rejoices his State proved true to her plighted vows to the last, and did not meanly desert a cause she had sworn to support. Thank Heaven, we have a Governor who can dare to use those brave words—words not at all incompatible with the highest devotion to the government—words which assure us that he is as true as steel to his plighted vows, and that the cause of the State, of the Union and of the Federal government, is safe in his hands.

But Gov. Worth goes further, and dares express his confidence in the loyalty of his people. He does not believe there is a man in the State who harbors or premeditates hostility to the government. And who does? Who so insane as to harbor the thought, much less the purpose? But he does this in the face of the fact that a citizen is now under arrest for using seditious language. We will not stop to characterize the unkindness of the assault upon the gentleman himself, but we will say Gov. Worth does not endorse or defend the prudence or the propriety of every citizen. He is speaking of the intentions, the purposes of his people as to the government. He does not believe any of his people are at heart traitors. Having sworn to be true to the government, he trusts them. And in this he follows the illustrious example of our Chief Magistrate, Andrew Johnson! North Carolinians will do to be trusted, for they stand to to their pledges.

Justices of the Peace,

We understand that there are throughout the State, perhaps in every County, several of the Justices of the Peace who were in office before the war, who never resigned and who never took the oath of allegiance to the Confederate government. If this be true, according to the ordinance of the Convention, such persons are bona fide Justices of the Peace now, and competent to act in all matters under the jurisdiction of a magistrate. All such would do well to make it known especially to the members of the Legislature from their Counties.

The Judges.

We learn that the Governor has summoned all the Judges of the State to meet here to be qualified at an early day. Judge Gilliam was qualified on Monday and has since qualified the officers of State.

Fayetteville Observer.

Many of our readers will learn with regret, that this popular paper is still necessarily delayed in its publication by the want of mail facilities. We are sure it is felt to be a great loss by its large number of readers in Cumberland, Harnett, Robeson, Richmond, Moore, Anson and Montgomery Counties, who are cut off almost entirely by the want of mails.

We trust the Post Master General will duly consider the wants of the people in that section, and will soon revive the mail routes South, East and West of Fayetteville. The position of Fayetteville makes it the only available market to a large section of country South and West of it, and the energy and business tact of the merchants and mechanics of Fayetteville, give them as strong a claim upon the government for mail facilities as any community in the State.

We take pleasure in inserting the following letter from the Messrs. Hale, which will answer many enquiries. We trust the barriers to the republication of the Observer will soon be removed:

FAYETTEVILLE, Dec. 27th, 1865.

EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL:—Dear Sir—We return you our thanks for the kind and complimentary article in your paper of the 23rd, and in reference to your inquiry, as to the re-appearence of the Observer, are still compelled to answer, as for months past we have done to hundreds of inquirers, that we cannot afford to print a paper until there are mails established to circulate it. So far, we know of but one contract made for carrying the mails from this place after the 1st January next, viz: on the route to Raleigh. On the other nine routes from this place, every bid was rejected by the Post Office Department, and such inadequate sums offered for the service as are not likely, we suppose, to find takers. Should this non-intercourse system ever come to an end—as possibly it may even in a few days—we shall doubtless return to our old vocation as soon as the necessary materials can be obtained.

Yours truly,

E. J. HALE & SONS.

Council of State.

The Council will convene to-day at the Executive office. It is hoped that a quorum will be present.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—It is rumored that the French and the United States Governments have arrived upon an understanding. France is to withdraw its troops from Mexico and the United States agrees not to permit any attempts to be made from here to drive Maximilian out. He is to be left to his Austrian body-guard and the Mexican people.

The President is so well satisfied with the condition of the South and our foreign relations that he has determined on a still further reduction of the army.

Negro Robbers Punished.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—A telegram from Augusta, Ga., says that on Thursday night a squad of United States colored troops and discharged colored soldiers made an assault on the house of a widow lady, residing six miles from Augusta, supposing her to be unprotected.—They, however, met an unexpected resistance—three of them mortally wounded and two seriously.

Address of the Colored People of Wilmington,

WILMINGTON, N. C., Dec. 29.—The officers of the Equal Rights League (colored) have published an address in Wilmington, disclaiming the secresy of the organization, and saying that the object of the league is to secure, by political and moral means, as far as may be, the repeal of all laws and parts of laws, State and National that make distinctions on account of color.

They add: This is our object in all its length and breadth. We, therefore, aspire to the condition and privilege of freemen. Is not this a national aspiration? Is it not the dictate of self-respect? We ask an opportunity to be shown worthy to be free, or purpose to attain the condition and privileges of free men by becoming intelligent, by industry, by virtue, by piety. If the object is a noble one, worthy of freemen, the means proposed for attaining it are moral and peaceful.

We disclaim the remotest calculation of enforcing our claim by violence. Does any one suggest insurrection? We frown upon him and denounce him. The address closes: "We do pledge ourselves to maintain good order. Our arms, and our lives, if necessary, are at the service of the government, to quell and crush insurrection. Having done that, we shall demand of the lawful authority protection for our property, schools, presses and churches."

The negroes are preparing for a grand celebration on the 1st of January. General Crook has promised them protection if necessary in any orderly demonstration, but none will probably be needed.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.—Much earnest feeling has been created among radical members by the announcement that the President had directed certain heads of departments "to make no further appointments upon the recommendations of Congressmen at present." The fact of the existence of this order was communicated by the chief of a department to some radical Congressman, who had made a request for a certain appointments. But one construction is given to this executive mandate, viz: that support of the executive policy is to be hereafter the price of patronage.—Wash. Cor. Chi. Tribune.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana has rendered a decision in a suit of a depositor against Jacob Barker, that Confederate money deposited with a banker created no contract which could be enforced by our courts, that such a transaction was contra bonus mores, the depositor intending to give circulation, as currency to one of the means by which the rebellion was to be aided and promoted. The depositor, therefore, could recover nothing, and he was dismissed with costs. Judge Isley rendered this decision.

WHILE RIOTS AND DISTURBANCES of various kinds seem to have been the order of the day in several localities, both in this State, and Virginia, the utmost quiet prevailed here. We have not heard of a single street fight; nor did we see a single votary of Bacchus staggering through the street.—Goldsboro News.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial writes: A rumor of the probable appointment of Major General Frank Blair to the War Department in place of Secretary Stanton, is only important as indicating the tendency of political feeling here.

The Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad has began a suit against its late President for one million dollars damage for permitting the Rebel Government to use the road and its machinery during the war.

The Year 1866.

The year which commenced with this day is one to which, as most of our readers are aware, a great portion of the christian world has been looking forward for centuries with eager anticipation, as pregnant with events of momentous interest to the whole human race. They derive this belief from the study and interpretation of the prophecies contained in the book of DANIEL and the Apocalypse, from which they conclude that 1866 is to be the commencement of the millennium.

The eleventh and twelfth chapters of Daniel, and the eighteenth and nineteenth chapters of the Book of Revelations, contain prophecies evidently referring to the same events, and each designating, in the language peculiar to prophecy, a certain period at which the events shall take place. When compared, they are found to correspond exactly in point of time, and that time is 1260 years. At the end of that time it is foretold that some great anti-christian power shall be overthrown, and the millennium commence. Protestants regard Papacy and the Mahometan kingdoms as the power in question. The Angel tells Daniel that all this shall happen in "a time, times, and a half time," that is, in twelve hundred and sixty prophetic days or actual years, from a certain event, which is afterwards spoken of as the setting up of the "abomination that maketh desolate." What particular event is here alluded to, is not known. The Scriptures always allude to the "abomination that maketh desolate" as something directed immediately against Omnipotence or His worship. Protestants believe that the particular events here alluded to, are the assumption of supreme, spiritual and temporal power by the Bishop of Rome, and the rise of the Mahometan imposture. They maintain that these events both occurred the same year, namely: in 606. Twelve hundred and sixty years from that period, bring us to this present year. It seems to be agreed that the introduction of the state of things described as peculiar to the millennium, is to be gradual, not violent or immediate. Others think that the prophecies, both of Daniel and of John, refer to a period somewhat earlier than 1266. They say that if the year be reckoned at 360, instead of 365 days, we shall be brought exactly to that period. They say that in the year the Pope was expelled from Rome, that he was from that moment shorn of all political power, that his downfall is slowly progressing, that he exists only by the protection of France, that he will never recover his power, but go on declining until he shall have fallen entirely, &c.

For our own part, we do not believe that the millennium will commence this year. There are too many things to be done before that blessed period shall open upon the world, Mahometanism, and other religious impostures, are to be overthrown; the Jews are to be converted and restored; the heathen (comprising at least two-thirds of the human race) are to be converted to Christianity. There are hardly any, we imagine, hopeful or credulous enough to expect that these things will be done the present year. They could not, indeed, be accomplished except by a succession of miracles so stupendous that all those recorded in the Scriptures combined would be unworthy to be named in the same day with them, and Providence never intervenes with sudden and startling miracles in such cases. The prophecies will all be fulfilled, as a vast multitude of them have been fulfilled already. Heaven and earth may pass away, but not one word of prophecy shall fall to the ground. But no man ever did, or ever will, interpret the meaning, we verily believe, of one of them before its fulfillment.—After fulfillment, every man looks back and says, "What fools men were not to have seen this!"—for the accomplishment of prophecy is so distinct that it can leave no doubt on the mind. The language of prophecy is always obscure, and was doubtless made so by design. Its accomplishment is the highest evidence the ALMIGHTY has vouchsafed of the sacred character of His Book.—None but GOD can foreknow anything. A prophecy accomplished must, therefore, be of GOD. The Scripture contains an infinite number of prophecies, stretching from the creation of man to the end of time. As far as the world has yet gone, they have all been fulfilled with the most astonishing accuracy. Therefore the Bible must be of Divine origin, and in the Bible is to be found all that is necessary for man to know with regard to his welfare here and in eternity. The study of the holy writings, which the desire to penetrate into the future stimulates and perpetuates, is nevertheless, very laudable. It calls attention to the Bible, and causes it to be read much more largely than it otherwise would be. Numberless works have been written on the very subject we are treating of. A large proportion of them are distinguished for the learning and ability they display. Some of them overflow with eloquence, and all of them are extremely entertaining. Some fanatics there have been, and some madmen; but, for the most part, nobody has been hurt and many have been benefitted by these investigations. —Richmond Whig.

Financial Sensation.

Some sensation was created in the financial circles of Richmond on Friday last, by the following announcement in the Times of that city:

"Our citizens will do well to remember that the following banks are reported broken, and that the money is being liberally distributed through the South: First National Bank of New York; National Bank of Attica, New York; National Bank of Bedford, Maine; National Bank of Hallowell, Maine; National Bank of Pittsburg, Pa.; National Bank of Syracuse, N. York; National Bank of Salem, Mass.; National Bank of Bangor, Maine."

President Faut, of the First National Bank, corrects the article in the subjoined communication to the Times:

Four of the banks mentioned, viz: National Bank of Bedford, Maine; National Bank of Hallowell, Maine; National Bank of Bangor, Maine; and National Bank of Pittsburg, Pa., by reference to the official report of the Comptroller of the Currency, have no existence, never having been chartered.

The other four named by you, except the First National Bank of Attica, stand as high as any banks in the country, and the notes of the Attica are received at par by all the National Banks, although the bank has stopped business. The First National Bank of New York, included in the list, is the oldest National Bank in the United States, and its stock is selling at 206 in New York.

I beg to add that all the National Bank notes are secured by a deposit of United States bond with the United States Treasurer, and in the event of the failure of any Bank, its circulation is taken up by the United States Treasurer, by the sale of the bonds.

QUEER REPORT.—A Washington correspondent says:

The presence of Clarence A. Seward in this city revives the rumor in circulation some time since that a Congressional inquiry will probably be made concerning the alleged fact of his being interested in Mexican speculations under Maximilian, while Acting Secretary of State, and supposed to be privy to the intentions of our government towards the empire.

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON WEDNESDAY, THE 24TH OF JANUARY, 1866, I shall offer for sale, my plantation in Bertie County, lying on the Roanoke River, three miles from Hill's Ferry on said river, and six from the village of Woodville in Bertie County, containing 1000 acres, more or less; 500 acres cleared and well adapted to the growth of cotton, corn, wheat, &c.

There is a very fine opportunity to make a large cotton crop on the plantation the next year, as there is compost enough ready made, to manure nearly 100 acres. The plantation made in 1861, 43,000 pounds of lint cotton, and 4,000 bushels of corn; and, with proper management, will do great deal better for the next year, as the most of the cotton land has had rest for the past two years. A very great advantage which this farm has, is its convenience to transportation, being only one mile to a good landing on the river, where there is a regular line of steamers to Norfolk weekly. In addition to the above, this is the only river farm in this portion of the county that has fire wood enough, conveniently for use; there is an abundance here, and timber of almost every kind, cypress, oak, hickory, ashe gum, &c. Lumber dealers would do well to examine the land before the day of sale.

There are about 400 or 500 acres on this tract uncleared, which affords a fine range for hogs, and a free access to numberless acres of uncultivated lands renders it very profitable for the raising of cattle, colts, &c.

The improvements consist of a gin house and 1 cotton screw, overseer's house, cabins enough for 25 or 30 laborers, corn barns &c. At the same time and place, I shall sell 200 or 300 barrels of corn, fodder, mules, horses hogs, farming utensils, &c.

Terms for the land: one third cash, the balance in two equal instalments, payable respectively in 12 and 18 months, and title withheld until payments made For the perishable property, cash.

For any further particulars, address the subscriber at Enfield, Halifax County, N. C.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

SCHOOL.—The school room of Mr. W. Hal. Harrison has been so defaced, he proposes to open his school at his room to-day and continue until the school building has been refitted.

A FIGHT.—We learn that there was quite a row on Vinegar Hill or some equally delightful locality on Monday night, in which weapons were used. The police succeeded in arresting the parties we learn, but we have not heard particulars.

MEAL.—This article is very scarce and high in this market. Our country friends will do well to bring in a good quantity.

KITTRELL'S SPRINGS.—We learn that this valuable property has been purchased by Rev. C. B. Riddick, who intends to make the most extensive arrangements for the permanent establishment of his Female College.

PUMPS.—We call the attention of the city fathers to the condition of the pumps of the city. The best pump on Fayetteville street has been out of gear for weeks. It is much needed.

Turner's Almanac, we learn, is in press at the Standard office, and will soon be ready for delivery. It is late coming out, but many will want it. As the edition will be small, orders had better be sent in at once.

The rainy season is not yet over in these parts. Our streets will about do to go to brick making.

Inferiority of the British to the American Navy.

From the London Army and Navy Gazette, Dec. 2.

We are told that the Americans are builing very long and very fast ships; while, on the other hand, the French are building them comparatively short. With present experience, we know that the speed of short vessels cannot be great. It must, however, not be forgotten that the French, in the construction of their recent additions to the Imperial navy, have had in view the rapid handling of ships of war when in action, rather than swiftness of speed for chasing or running away. Our allies on the other side of the channel have never failed to bestow their admiration upon our Warrior class of vessels; but they have recoiled from following the example we set them. The paramount reason which had weight with them is the great space which such long vessels require to turn. It would, therefore, be implied that the French do not contemplate a fleet of iron-clad vessels to scour the seas, as they must well know that they would be unfit for the purpose. The Americans have a very large, and perhaps we may add a very heterogeneous, collection of iron-clads, which may serve in the way of coast defences; but they have resolved to possess themselves of a squadron, if not a whole fleet, of rapid, improved "Alabamas"—the precise sort of vessels which our own Admiralty promised the House of Commons last session we should be provided with. It is far too early to decide upon the sea-going qualities of Mr. Reid's vessels, but we know well enough that they were never intended to act as a sea police. We have nothing of the sort; our harbors are denuded of all ships having any pretentions to cope with those which, according to a well-founded rumor, are now being built across the Atlantic. We cannot afford to stand still.—The Americans have taken one step; we must again advance. Most persons entitled to any authority on the matter are agreed that our navy of the future must be of iron, and not of wood; and they seem agreed that there should be no difficulty in building vessels of iron of the necessary length to insure something not much under fifteen knots an hour. The Agincourt, after being covered with some composition, was at the expiration of six weeks examined, and she was found to be covered with grass six inches long. Wood over copper offers a chance of getting rid of this evil. The armament should be powerful, say two or more six hundred pounders to be replaced by one thousand two hundred pounders—when we can get them. Foreigners are already in our markets, seeking after enormous ordnance; and if the statements which have reached us can be relied upon, they are not likely to be disappointed in getting the guns to order. Probably they have found a race of Anakim to work them. At all events, the Americans have actually large guns, on iron carriages, which can throw a shell six miles, and they have ships which can carry such at fourteen knots an hour. If the Admiralty do not believe these statements, there is no reason why they should not be prepared against the probable truth. In spite of Sir Morton Peto, we believe a quarrel not out of the question. Perhaps his influence may induce his American friends to desist in the building of their new cruisers, which means mischief—nothing else.

The prompt recognition of Gov. Worth of North Carolina, by the President, is an emphatic answer to those friends of Governor Holden who attempted to secure his election by representing that such was the order from Washington. Henceforth an election means a choice among the candidates.—Richmond Sentinel.

A PLEA FOR MR. DAVIS.—If no other reason existed for the pardon of Davis, this would do: If he is hanged whom can the "loyal" organs abuse? When Wirz was living he was a most fruitful subject. If Davis goes, their case will be distressing. We would recommend, as an emergency victim, the Czar of Russia, or the King of Abyssinia. By all means let us have the King served up.—New York Tribune.

EMPLOYMENT OF FREEDMEN.—General Wade Hampton arrived in this city a few days ago, and proceeded to his plantation on the coast.—We learn that the General brought out a large number of freedmen from South Carolina to cultivate his fine plantation on the coast.—N. O. Picayune, 19th.

Henry A. Wise and the Sportsman.

It will be long before Henry A. Wise's "Know-nothing" Campaign will be forgotten. The secret order had made vast gains in a few months all over the State, and it was the firm belief of the members that the election of Mr. Flournoy was secure beyond a peradventure.

They knew not, however, what an adversary they had to meet. Henry A. Wise attacked the powerful order with a fury unknown before in poltical warfare. Wherever this formidable megatherium bent his steps, the Know nothing lodges were crushed out by him, and the result showed that the overthrow of the American party in Virginia was due to the personal exertions of H. A. Wise alone.

"Stumping the State" is no easy matter under any circumstances. The physical exertion is enough to wear out most men. Wise's constitution was feeblest at best; and, moreover, the annoyances and vexations he endured in this memorable campaign seemed enough to kill a dozen such as he. His indomitable will was all that sustained him in gaining his glorious victory.

It was painful to behold him near the end of the contest. His whole appearance was that of a man thoroughly broken down by mental and physical exertion; for he was reduced to almost a skeleton.

In his youthful prime it is said that Wise was much admired by the ladies; but we do not think that we malign "Eboshin," if we say, that, at this period of his life his most ardent admirers could not for a moment imagine the used up orator to be an Adonis.

But to our story: "Mr. Wise had just reached a depot on the Tennessee road, at which point were collected a squad of people, drawn together to await the arrival of the cars, or to get a sight of the man whom they pohtically admired or detested. As soon as Gizzard-foot got to the station, he was introduced to every man of the crowd; among others to a famous sportsman, Mr. F., celebrated for his wild, reckless humor. Wise "took his measure" at a glance, and after the first few common-place remarks, the following conversation took place:

"Glad to see you, Mr. Wise."

"As I am also to see you, Mr. F."

"Been long looking out for you in these diggins, Mr. Wise."

"Well, you see me at last before you, don't you?"

"Why, yes, Mr. Wise; and you are very remarkable looking man too. I am glad to see you personally, Mr. Wise;—but I can't vote for you nohow."

"Well then vote against me;—this is a free country, and every man votes as he pleases."

"But hear me out Mr. Wise. Though I can't vote for you, I will bet on you."

"Ah, Mr. F., that's what I call talking. I accept that remark of yours as a good omen, coming from so distinguished a member of the society of sportsmen."

"Mr. Wise, let me explain myself by telling you a story. Some years ago I was at a race at New Market. There were six fine nags entered, all in good condition. Every one bet on this or that horse; but to my eye they all lacked some good point or other, and I would not bet on any. Presently they brought in an old, lean, ugly, scrawny concern, whose appearance raised a shout of laughter. I went up, however, and examined him closely, found he had plenty of mettle, and, despite of his looks, I knew he must have bottom. I went round and got any bets I wanted, at any odds I asked. They started; and though the dandy nags went ahead at first, my old fellow was found to be tougher than the whole batch. In the end I won the stakes; and when I came off that race course my pockets could not hold the money I won. All this came of my betting upon the ugliest, scrawniest horse on earth;—and, Mr. Wise, I'll bet on you, too, and win"

The crowd of bystanders roared with laughter, in which Wise joined most heartily. "All hands stepped aside, 'took a smile,' the steam-whistle shrieked, and 'Gizzard-foot' went on rejoicing to Lynchburg.—Norfolk Virginian.

Five persons were drowned off Wilmington, N. C., on Saturday. A boat in which they were sailing was upset by a squall.

Secretary McCulloch is opposed to the repeal of the assumption by the General Government of the State war debt.

General Sheridan and staff called on General Scott while he was in New Orleans. In discussing the late war General Scott, spoke in high terms of the rebel Generals Lee, Johnston and Longstreet.

NOTABLE MARRIAGE.—On the 19th December, at Polk Place, the residence of Mrs. Jas. K. Polk, Mr. George William Fall and Miss Sally Polk Jetton, both of Nashville.

THE PRESIDENT AND MR. DAVIS.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The President is preparing, or has prepared, a reply to the resolution of Congress, asking for information why Jefferson Davis has not been brought to trial. The ground taken will be found to embrace the legal difficulties heretofore announced as in the way of a civil trial, and the probabilities are that Congress will pass a law to meet trials and all similar emergencies."

RELIGION OF THE PRESIDENTS.—The religious belief of the deceased Presidents of the United States, as indicated by their attendance upon public worship and evidence afforded in their writings, may be summed up as follows: Washington, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler and Taylor were Episcopalians; Jefferson, John Adams and John Quincy Adams were Unitarians; Jackson, Polk and Lincoln were Presbyterians; Van Buren was of the Dutch Reformed Church. The surviving Presidents are Fillmore, a Unitarian; Pierce, a Trinitarian Congregationalist; Buchanan, an Episcopalian, and the present Chief Magistrate, Johnson, who is a Presbyterian.

BREVITIES.—"Would that we had never met!" as the soldier said when the minnie ball hit him.

"Mother, listen to the wind making music for the leaves to dance by," said a four year old poet.

Desirable Farm for Sale.

THE PLANTATION SITUATED ABOUT TWO and a half miles from the village of Magnolia on the Wilmington and Weldon R. R., between that place and Kenansville, and known as "Barbacue," is offered for sale. The tract contains 360 acres, 100 of which are cleared and have been under cultivation, producing excellent Corn, Wheat, potatoes, &c. A portion of the land is also well adapted to the culture of cotton. An inexhaustible bed of Marl, a large spring of as good water as can be found in the State, and a never failing stream, running through the center of the cleared land, are among the attractions of the place.

The timbered portion of the land being nearest the Rail Road, and the entire place being easy of access to a first rate market, make it a highly desirable location for growing produce, raising stock and selling timber. Any one having the cash, can procure a bargain by applying immediately to

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION have been resumed without the military feature, and an additional number of pupils will be received for the balance of the session, which will terminate 26 weeks from the 1st of January, 1866. The discipline and course of instruction will be the same as in similar schools, with the exception of a thorough course in the Ancient Languages, embracing Latin and Greek composition. In surveying and engineering the instruction will be both theoretical and practical. Arrangements will be made at an early day to secure a complete set of Chemical and Philosophical apparatus. No pains or expense will be spared to make this one of the best Schools in the country. The buildings are located on Haymount which overlooks the town of Fayetteville, and which is remarkable for the healthiness of the location, the beauty of the scenery, and the intelligence, refinement and high moral character of the people. There is almost daily connection between Wilmington and Fayetteville by steamboat, and this is suggested as the best route to the latter place from almost any quarter. Students will be received at any time, and will be charged from the date of entrance, though it will be best to enter about the 1st of January, 1866.

ASHES OF GLORY.

BY A. J. REQUIER.

Fold up the gorgeous silken sun,
By bleeding martyrs blest,
And heap the laurels it has won
Above its place of rest.

No trumpet's notes need harshly blare—
No drum funereal roll—
Nor trailing sables drape the bier
That frees a dauntless soul!

It lived with Lee and decked his brow
From Fate's empyreal palm:
It sleeps the sleep of Jackson now—
As spotless and as calm.

It was outnumbered—not outdone:
And they shall shuddering tell,
Who struck the blow, its latest gun
Flashed ruin as it fell.

Sleep, shrouded Ensign!—not the breeze
That smote the victor tar,
With death, across the heaving seas
Of fiery Trafalgar.

Not Arthur's knights, amid the gloom
Their knightly deeds have starred;
Nor Gallic Henry's matchless plume,
Nor peerless born Bayard!

Nor all that antique fables feign,
And Orient dreams disgorge;
Nor yet, the Silver Cross of Spain,
Nor Lion of St. George,

Can bid thee pale! Proud emblem still,
Th crimson glory shines
Beyond the lengthened shades that fill
Their proudest kingly lines.

Sleep in thine own historic night,—
And be thy blazoned scroll;
A warrior's banner takes its flight
To greet the warrior's soul!

We had with much pleasure, the announcement to us this morning by telegraph, that Governor Worth has been installed into office, and ex-Governor Holden relieved of his duties in the State of North Carolina.

A more welcome Christmas present the President of United States could scarcely send to the people of this State. Just now, under existing circumstances, and we hail it with all thanks and gladness, it is a boon conferred and will not be forgotten by a grateful people.

This is the right step in the right place at reconciliation and reconstruction. We want and desire such, with all our mind, with all our soul, and with all our strength, and trust that the New Year will bring forth such good fruit in Congress as will render important services to the South generally and to North Carolina in particular.

We hope that at the sitting of next Congress, members will lay aside their prejudices, robe themselves with true peaceable principles, divest themselves of animosity, or hatred for their fellow country men. let them become the instruments of harmony and peace, by co-operating with their chief in the great work of reconstruction, then, indeed, will the people bless their names, and when their duty (well performed) be ended here, and take their leave of this for a better world, then will the people bless their memories also, for having made their country what it was heretofore—

"GREAT, GLORIOUS AND FREE."

Let them remember the Spartan officer's patriotic remark to his chief, whom he offended by his advice: "Strike me but take my advice." Such was the sentiment of a true patriot. In the name of all that is dear to you on earth, come to a determination to have security and peace among your people, and the country will bless your names forever.—Wil. Journal.

SCIENCE AND CHRISTIANITY.

I have no fear that the splendors of physical science will make the crown of the Christian faith pale and wax dim. Let them stand before the world side by side, and let them both tell all they have to communicate concerning the nature of man and concerning the achievements of God. The human heart will declare that, marvelous as are the manifestations of the divine wisdom, and power, and beneficence in the material creation, they are nothing compared with the transcendent glory of his infinite love for man, as shown in the incarnation and death of the Lord Jesus Christ; and that, vast as are the benefits secured for the race by a deeper and wider knowledge of the laws of the material universe, they are utterly insignificant, compared with the rest for the agitated and weary soul, the peace for the troubled conscience, the hope and triumph in the hour of death, the blessedness of present communion with God, the recovery of his image, the certainty of eternal fellowship with him beyond the grave, which Christ has brought within our reach.

Physical science may tell me of the rich and bountiful gifts which God has bestowed upon his creatures, and may dazzle me with the pomp and splendor and power of the ministers of his wisdom and love; but Christ takes me by the hand and brings me face to face with God himself; in his presence there is fullness of joy. He is the Father of my spirit, and you leave my deepest and intensest longings unsatisfied until you give me rest in his love and direct communion with his infinite and eternal bliss.—Rev. R. W. Dale.

THE BIBLE.—Out of it have come all pure moralities. From it have sprung all sweet charities. It has been the motive power of regeneration and reformation to millions of men. It has comforted the humble, consoled the mourning, sustained the suffering, and given trust and triumph to the dying. The wise old man has fallen asleep with it folded on his breast. The cottager has used it for a dying pillow; and even the innocent child has breathed his last happy sigh, with his fingers between its promise-freighted leaves.

ROSIN.—An immense amount of produce of almost every description is now awaiting transportation to Newbern.

We think we speak within bounds when we say that one hundred thousand barrels of rosin alone is now [illegible] soon will be ready for transportation.—Newbern Times.

IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION

For the Times, and all Times, to be Considered.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulses of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone is this law of average to secure which we bind ourselves together to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer the longer lives must be, helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in early life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the films of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are anxious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the children must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhiliration and hope, men can hardly be made to feel that they are within a hand's breadth of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed. While he lives, he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its future contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material, men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overrule ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt, and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy But money secured to your family by life insurance will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?"

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his death, thus doing his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security can not be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally, it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.
